From Canon Kate

THE GRASS GROWS. I WILL GROW: WE WILL GROW

On my way to work each weekday there has been some construction going on as I wind my way to church. Each day I have noticed an orange construction sign tossed to the side of the road. It was made of some sort of orange metal mesh. As the construction dragged on-and-on, as road construction seems to do, I saw the grass growing up through the orange mesh. As the area around it is now being mowed, passers by can now see just how high the grass is growing this spring right through the holes in the sign. It was as if the grass said, "I don't care what obstacle you place in my path, I am going to grow."

I think of that sign now as I watch the signs of spring around me. I sat on my lanai last week marveling at the flowers. They, too, let no obstacle stand in their way. It's as if they have said, "I will push myself up in spite of the mulch, the rocks and the weeds." The flowers all show their splendor once again each spring, and we all marvel at the fact that they come back to life and symbolize the resurrection each year.

I know that we as human beings have the same potential and strong determination as the natural things around us that grow. We all have the ability to face our own challenges and push onward and upward in the midst of obstacles. I begin to think and reflect on the people whom I have known as friends, parishioners, patients, and others in my life who have faced serious illness, obstacles, or trying life circumstances. There are many people around us who exemplify to us the will and perseverance to press onward. I have met, and I am sure that you have also met, people in your own lives that have faced serious illness and death. And I am sure that you have learned from them just as I have that they have grown in spite of, or even because of, the difficult situations they have faced.

I believe that this is the message of Easter. That even in the midst of insurmountable odds or circumstances; hope and resurrection can happen. The Easter message seems to me to be a message of the reality of life. Life will deal us unexpected and terrible circumstances, illnesses or heartbreaks along our way. Just as Jesus had to deal with the cross on Good Friday, we will have to deal with terrible disappointments, illnesses, and disillusionments along the way. And yet, the Easter message is one of hope. No matter the circumstances, the message of Easter is one of hope.

Perhaps with the warmth of faith, the nurturing of good friends, and sheer determination, we each can say, "What ever obstacle comes my way, I will make it through. I will grow, too." Perhaps this is the Easter message for St. Clement's as well. In the midst of uncertainty, search process, interim time, etc....our hope is in the message of Easter. Even in the midst of uncertainty, Jesus promises to be with us. We grow, because Jesus grows within each and every one of us.

Have a Blessed Easter-tide.

~~ Blessings,
Canon Kate+

 Family Movie Night

Pizza provided; side dishes welcome
 Come and watch the movie Sing!

♥ To Andrew and Mary Carpenter, Gayle Chang, Beth Charlton, Moani Crowell, Canon Kate Cullinane, Keli'i deFrancia, Pam Fern, Beth Fincke, Cecilia Fordham, Terry Ledford, Joy McElroy, Micheline and Jack McManus, Kathleen Norris, and Cathy Overstreet, for sitting vigil with the reserved sacrament between the Maundy Thursday service and the Good Friday service. Special thanks to Sandy Souza for organizing the volunteers and making coffee available throughout the night. Each of you is to be commended for taking literally Jesus' request to "stay awake one hour and pray."

♥ To Scott Suzuki-Jones and Liz Baldwin for organizing the Agape meal on Maundy Thursday and to Bella Harper and Griffin Frank for reading the lessons and ringing the bell during the meal.

♥ To Beth Fincke and the St. Clement's Choir for helping us to "make a joyful noise unto the Lord" on Maundy Thursday and Easter.

♥ To all the Acolytes, Ushers, Greeters, Offering Counters, Lectors, Lay Readers, and Eucharistic Ministers who served during the holiest weekend of the church year – Maundy Thursday through Easter Sunday (as well as Sundays throughout the year).

♥ To Canon Kate, Liz Baldwin, Moani Crowell, John Palimo'o, and all the parishioners who brought side dishes for your hard work and the delicious sweet and savory goodies at the Easter Brunch.

♥ To Byron and Hilary Gangnes for their many years of coordinating and managing the monthly Food Distribution Ministry. Well done, thou good and faithful servants.

♥ To Jayson Harper who has willingly agreed to take over for Byron and Hilary as head of the Food Distribution Ministry and to Matt Chapman for accepting the role of Jayson's assistant.

♥ To Lauren Romagnoli and Gail and Scott Suzuki-Jones, our Family Ministries Team, for organizing and supervising the Easter Egg Hunt for the children of St. Clement's. A good time was had by all.

♥ To Beth Fincke for filling in as the Interim Music Director for the past 3+ months. She's done a wonderful job keeping the choir going through the busy seasons of Epiphany, Lent, and Easter. You are a treasure to St. Clement's, Beth. (See article on page 5 for an introduction of our new Music Director.)

The POSC has been very blessed. In response to our Parish Profile / Rector job posting, the Rector Search Committee has received applications from many well qualified applicants.

The initial review of all of the applications has been completed and the committee is currently preparing to conduct electronic interviews of the top applicants and is continuing to review their resumes along with checking references, reviewing sermons, etc. We ask for your continued support and prayers as we continue in this search for our new rector.

We ask that you join us as we pray for God's guidance in this crucial portion of the process:

"O God, by whom the meek are guided in judgment, and light rises up in darkness for the godly: Grant us, in all our doubts and uncertainties, the grace to ask what you would have us to do, that the Spirit of wisdom may save us from all false choices, and that in your light we may see light, and in your straight path we may not stumble; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen."

Easter at St. Clement's

Easter Brunch: The ham was donated anonymously; Canon Kate, Moani Crowell, and Liz Baldwin pre-cooked the ham, roasted the potatoes, and prepped the tables. Moani Crowell and John Palimo'o donated the Easter Cupcakes, Spanish rolls, and iced tea in celebration of Cole's second godmother, Joy McElroy. Parishioners brought the side dishes. Photos by Liz Baldwin and Arthur Buto.

Adult Discussion Group

Sundays in May

8:45am to 10:00am

During May we will begin reading The Road to Character by David Brooks. Below is how Amazon.com described the book:

"With the wisdom, humor, curiosity, and sharp insights that have brought millions of readers to his New York Times column and his previous bestsellers, David Brooks has consistently *illuminated our daily lives in surprising and original ways. In The Social Animal, he explored the neuroscience of human connection and how we can flourish together. Now, in The Road to Character, he focuses on the deeper values that should inform our lives. Responding to what he calls the culture of the Big Me, which emphasizes external success, Brooks challenges us, and himself, to rebalance the scales between our "résumé virtues"—achieving wealth, fame, and status—and our "eulogy virtues," those that exist at the core of our being: kindness, bravery, honesty, or faithfulness, focusing on what kind of relationships we have formed."*

Please join us in the Loo Parish Hall at 8:45 am on Sundays to read and discuss what promises to make for some interesting discussion on values.

Meet Our New Director of Music Karol Nowicki

Karol Nowicki moved to O'ahu in 2012 after receiving his Bachelor's and Master's degrees in composition from Westminster Choir College in Princeton, New Jersey. Karol quickly became involved in the choral scene of Hawai'i, and in the last five years has sung in choir and as a soloist with Hawai'i Opera Chorus, Hawai'i Vocal Arts Ensemble, St. Andrew's Cathedral Choir, Early Music Hawai'i, O'ahu Choral Society, Han Sheng Music Association, and the Men's Schola at the Lutheran Church of Honolulu. For the past two years Karol has been teaching at University of Hawai'i at West O'ahu and at Kapi'olani Community College, where he directs choirs and instructs beginning voice and theory classes. In fall of 2012 Karol and his brother Michal formed a Christmas Caroling group called Karol's Karolers, an a cappella vocal ensemble that performs international repertoire. Since its origin the group has expanded its season to include non-holiday selections, and is currently preparing for a spring concert at the Lutheran Church of Honolulu on May 19th and a mini-tour to the Big Island in the beginning of June. Karol is very excited to begin his next music adventure at the Parish of St. Clement and looks forward to becoming a part of the new community.

FLOWERING OF THE CROSS DURING PRESCHOOL CHAPEL

On Easter Sunday the Sunday School children helped to flower the cross during the procession into the church. That very same cross was used the following Wednesday within our Preschool Chapel service. Preschoolers were invited to bring a flower from home to help decorate the cross. It's lovely to see so many different varieties of flowers decorating the church. Photos by Elizabeth Sugahara, Heather Tanigawa, and Canon Kate.

CANNED FOOD DRIVE AT ST. CLEMENT'S SCHOOL

During the week before Easter the children of St. Clement's School participated in a canned food drive. Over ten huge boxes of canned goods were gathered. The canned goods were then used in our food distribution program which takes place on the third Saturday of the month. It's great to see the church and the school working together on some projects. Photo by Canon Kate.

A View from the Pew

"I tell you, if the people were silent, the stones would shout out."

~~ Jesus / Luke 40:19

I realize it is the Easter Season, the fifty days from Easter Day to the Day of Pentecost, but every year on Palm Sunday during Lent we read the Passion of Christ, meaning the events leading up to Jesus' crucifixion and the crucifixion itself, when it is a day we are supposed to be commemorating his triumphant return to Jerusalem. Then, five days later on Good Friday, when we actually commemorate Jesus crucifixion, we read it again. I understand why we repeat. The majority of Episcopalians do not go to Good Friday services. As a result, most Episcopalians would not hear the Passion if it was read only on Good Friday. Consequently, the Episcopal Church mandates we read it on Palm Sunday as well, when most Episcopalians attend services, and in this way we all hear the Passion.

I have nothing against the Passion. To say the least, it is pretty central in Christianity. However, in reading the Passion on Palm Sunday, too, not only do we confuse some Episcopalians over the correct order of events during the Holy Week that follows, and not only do we benignly discourage Episcopalians to seek out, read and study the Bible, and discover its meaning in our daily lives, but we also skim over in part or overlook in full the whole point of Palm Sunday in the process.

Ostensibly, Palm Sunday is when we celebrate Jesus' triumphant return to Jerusalem for the Passover celebration after three years of very active ministry. It was a ministry that must have been very popular among Jesus' fellow Jews, given all of the controversy and enmity it caused among the religious and political elite, and the fact that for the first 300 to 400 years after Jesus' death, until Emperor Constantine made Christianity the state religion of Rome, the majority of Christians were Jews.

Even so, Jesus rode into Jerusalem on a young donkey, a colt. Crowds of people waved palm fronds at him as he passed by, and they laid their cloaks down in his path for him to ride over. If that were not enough, the people shouted the traditional Hebrew exultation and holiday greeting of "Hoshianah!" which in English transliterates as "Hosanna." In Hebrew it means "save us" and, at the time, was reserved for the Jewish Holy Day of Sukkot, the Feast of Booths, Tents, or Tabernacles, meaning make-shift shelters. Sukkot is when Jews remember how Moses, inspired and guided by God, led them into the wilderness in their escape from slavery and bondage in Egypt. It is when Jews recall how God provided for their basic needs while in the wilderness with bread-like manna for breakfast that appeared like dew on the desert floor in the morning, fresh drinking water that sprang forth from stones in the heat of the day, flocks of quail alighting near their campsites in the evening to be roasted for supper, and trees and shrubs whose cuttings - such as palm fronds - were used to shelter and protect them from the wilderness.

However, Palm Sunday was not Sukkot. Sukkot is celebrated in the Fall. Palm Sunday happened shortly before Passover which is celebrated in the Spring. So why then were so many Jews in Jerusalem shouting to Jesus "Hoshianah!" - "Save me!" while they lay down their cloaks on the streets for him to ride over and waved palm fronds at him as he passed by? To be sure, in the Second Book of Kings, Samuel prophesized the people would spread their cloaks beneath him and shout that he was King. In the book of Zechariah, the prophet foretold he would ride into Jerusalem on the colt of a donkey. And in the Psalms David sang, "Lord, save us!" and "Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord." Still, Palm Sunday was not Sukkot.

Could it be that the Jews who were ecstatically greeting Jesus saw him to be, similar to Moses, a deliverer who, instead of rescuing them from slavery and bondage in Egypt, might someday rescue them from discrimination and inequity in the divided Kingdom of Israel, as well as the oppression and persecution of Imperial Rome? Could it be that, in laying down their cloaks on the street for Jesus to ride over, a custom in many regions of the ancient Middle East reserved for conquering warrior-kings returning home from battle, the Jews welcoming him were inversely rejecting titular King Herod of Israel and Emperor Tiberius of Rome much like they did Pharaoh Thutmose III of Egypt in the Exodus? Could it be that, by waving palm fronds as Jesus passed by, the Jews who embraced his ministry were beseeching him to shelter them from the spiritual and religious wildernesses they were collectively and individually enduring, much like the people of the Hebrew Tribes of Israel who endured the natural wilderness of the Sinai in their return to the Promised Land?

Could it be that Palm Sunday, more than just a triumphant return to Jerusalem, is really an event that combines the most important religious and spiritual elements of Passover and Sukkot, rescue and salvation? Could it be that all of the Hosannas, cloaks and palms are really a communal acknowledgment of the fulfillment of ancient prophecies, symbolic of a much greater triumph?
